

POSITION PAPERS

Child violence is a form of violence against children. It mainly involves physical, emotional, cultural, mental, sexual and verbal. It happens when a person who is elder or a child itself abuses a child in any of the way. Usually, in metro cities, child or the child's family can go to police or file a case in the court, but in Belarus people aren't aware of the children rights.

If a single person try's to stop crimes he won't be able to. If the whole country try's to stop crimes, they will succeed and this also comes with our country, people of Belarus don't try to understand that what children are suffering with. Our government try's our best to spread this message, and at a point we are doing it, some people are understanding but only some. Most of the people are still not understanding and the reason is their mind-set. For example UNICEF 2020 says that in our country children who are 1-14 years old are experiencing a violent discipline in their daily life. The solution for this is patience and peace among adults. There is one more case in which children who are 18-24 years are witnessing physical violence in the home, the solution for this is understanding among adults that the punishment does not mean that physically abuse the child.

The main problem which Belarus is facing is, that the government has so many things in our mind, but we can't implement them why, because we do not have those much resources which are required. We try our best that make and do things which need less resources but at a point, we run out of supplies.

The solution for all this is support, support from the people and support from the countries. If everyone is with us then everything would be fine, as we are famous for the potatoes and their farms, slow and steadily we are trading them for important and required resources. This plan is really working, as we are manufacturing more tractors so that we grow more potatoes and trade them.

The solution which we have come up with is that, the member countries can suggest some ideas which are revolutionary and can make a big change in Belarus, if they wish, they can also provide some resources and supplies. They also can send some workers from some of the fields like- police, hospital, military, and judiciary etc. so that they can come help us and train more and more people about their field. At last I want to say that we want to do so many things but, we can't do them. Let's come together and make this planet a better place to live.
